A TEAM OF PROFESSIONISTS AGAINST DISCRIMINATION AT WORK

Cristina Obber is a writer, journalist and trainer. Her last releases are “Siria mon amour” and “L'altra parte di me” (The other side me) (both published by Piemme), “W i nonni” and “Giro Girotondo” (both published by Settenove). Member of GiULiA journalists network, she writes for “Lettera-Donna” by Elle and for “La 27esima ora” (The 27th hour) by Corriere della Sera.

La Fondazione Asso Safe is an institution focused on social solidarity. Amongst its objectives, promotion, education and disclosure of knowledges in the matter of safety at work, also through setting up research centers. Moreover, it's a force involved in social work with multiple initiatives.

Il Telefono Rosa (Pink Telephone) is a force established in 1998 supporting, ever since, women in distress, mostly victims of violence and harassments. Throughout the years it has represented a strenght point for those who were unable to defend themselves. With the help of professionals and trained consultants, it offers free help and support to those who request.
